

ISRT Meeting 8/16/22 1830

Present: Mike, Rendi, Tim, Casey, & Breezy

Per Rendi, ISRT Conference planning must begin.

Per Tim, virtual was decided upon previously. Stephanie will need to be reached to assist with the virtual component portion. Six speakers would be needed for continuing education reasons.

Casey talked with the program director with that program and received a strong response for helping with the 2024 in-person conference.

The topic of the student bowl is discussed. The last virtual student bowl was well received, while the last in-person student bowl had little attendance.

Per Tim, an hour and a half is needed for the business meeting. An itinerary for the next meeting should be worked on.

Per Breezy, if the ISRT splits the conference between spring and fall sessions, poster boards would only work for the spring session. Students do not complete those until the spring.

Saturday April 22 is decided upon to be the best date for conference.

Tim has a template letter to request speakers speak. School directors usually receive a letter around October with a reminder around January reminding them of essays and posters. Pictures of all submissions are cycled through during the virtual conference between events.

Each ISRT member will need to reach out to a speaker or two.

Per Tim, October usually starts more regular ISRT meetings.

Casey asks what facilities could help contribute next conference. Also, some vendors may provide speaking contributions in addition to financial contributions.

Tim asks if postcards should be done again. Breezy posits that the response could have been better. She proposes doing postcards again to compare virtual vs in-person responses to postcards.

Breezy lets the group know financial accounts are positive and the last conference was profitable.

Tim will send out a email announcement after hearing back from Stephanie.

October 4th 7pm will be the next meeting to address the upcoming rad tech week.

Rendi asks for delegate information. Tim will make sure ASRT rules allow for Casey to be a delegate. Tim and Mike will be planned alternates.

Meeting ended at 1900 hrs.
